THE MARYLAND SPRING CLASSIC

April of this year will bring the 3rd annual meeting of the Maryland Spring Classic. The tournament this year includes an exciting field of collegiate stars representing various institutions along the east coast.

The format for this year's tournament will vary slightly from those of the past, however. Each team will play 6 men with the low 4 at the end of 36 holes counting as the team score.

In the first Classic, Maryland won the team competition as well as the individual low score which went to Ken Peyre-Ferry in 1971. Last year, in an event prematurely ended by heavy rains, the team honors were taken by the University of Virginia.

The field this year will include teams from American University, Dartmouth, Georgetown, George Washington, Trenton State College, Tusculum (Tenn.), William and Mary, the University of Richmond, the University of Virginia, and Maryland.

UNIVERSITY OF MARYLAND GOLF COURSE

The University course was dedicated on May 15, 1959. Situated over 210 rolling, wooded acres just west of campus, the championship course, driving range and clubhouse provide both recreational and teaching services to the University community. Par is 36-35-71. The course is 6,675 yards with the longest hole the 511-yard seventh. The course record 64 was set by former Golf Coach Frank Cronin in 1964 when the course was a par 72.

1972 ACC CHAMPIONSHIPS

Wake Forest	1122
Maryland	1161
Duke	1166
North Carolina	1180
Virginia	1181
Clemson	1198

OUTLOOK

Having lost 4 of our top 5 players, the golf team this year is in a rebuilding situation. Yet coach Dave Sigler has established the team goal as qualifying for the NCAA Tournament. Maryland placed 10th in the NCAA for the last two years.

In the ACC, Maryland should finish 2nd to Wake Forest again.

Anchoring the team this year is a young man named Buddy Marucci. Buddy teamed with Rick Bendall to win the Anderson Memorial this summer. He and Henri Delozier won the Eastern 4-ball in the fall and in November, he took the Tournament of Champions in Florida. Finishing 3rd in the Middle Atlantic Amateur and 2nd in the All Dixie Intercollegiate, Buddy's performance prompted Coach Sigler to remark, "I think Buddy will establish himself as our finest player since Dean Beman."

Coming up, we have two promising freshmen in Mike Pratt and Roger Simpkins. Mike is coming off a serious arm injury and may be out this season. But the former Virginia state junior champion should do big things in 1974.

The rest of the lineup, however, except for captain Eric Stevenson, lacks tournament experience. However, with the example of Marucci and the leadership of Stevenson to follow, the future of the team looks promising.

THE COACH

Dave Sigler is a 1962 graduate of the University of Maryland with a BS in Physical Education. In 1966, after serving with the US Army, including a tour in Vietnam, he returned to the university and, two years later, he earned his MA in the same field.

From September, 1968 to June, 1969, he coached the golf team at Rock Valley College, Rockford, Ill. Under his guidance, the team won the Northern Ill. Junior College Conference title with a 13-1-1 record.

Again, he returned to Maryland. This time to take the assistant coaching job with the golf team. Coach Sigler assumed the head post upon the retirement of Frank Cronin, last year.
